“ It was around 1968 when our family started camping at the resort. We had our tent trailer then. Never would we have expected that this friendship would be life long after 54 years. Jerry was a hard working man, he was always doing something. Every morning cleaning out the fish cleaning house, tending the garden, cutting wood for winter to heat the house, doing repairs around the resort. Jerry, Sandra and Steve built the pole barn at the resort from scratch sinking the poles building the framework sheeting and hanging the doors. There wasn't anything he wouldn't take on jumping in with both feet. When Sandra entered the Winnipeg to St. Paul 500 snowmobile race he was right there in the chase truck filming her progress and supporting her all the way. Even after they retired from the resort he was still doing most of the chores around the homestead in his eighties. There are so many other things that I remember that would take days to write down. So I have my memory's that will always be with me. As do the Court family. Those are the one thing that no one can take away and you always carry with you. Goodbye Jerry you will always be remembered.
